

Mr. Charles Henry Armstrong Jr.

March 30, 1944 - April 4, 2020

Mr. Charles H. Armstrong Jr. a long-time resident of Winston-Salem passed away early Saturday morning at Kate B. Reynolds Hospice Home. He was born in Bradenton, Florida to Charles H. and Dorothy Armstrong.

Charles was an employee of Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center for over 44 years where he retired as a perfusionist. Charles was the first African-American Perfusionist in the State of North Carolina. Charles was a faithful member of the St. Paul United Methodist Church, who worked with the Food Pantry Ministry.

Charles is survived by his wife Terral Armstrong, Daughters Charlene Y. Armstrong Esq., Stephanye Bauer PhD, Son Rev. Charles (Ashley) H. Armstrong III, bonus daughter Adria Aldridge along with a granddaughter Sydney Aldridge of Atlanta, Georgia and brother Eugene Armstrong (Janis) of Bronx, New York. Charles will be greatly missed by his family, friends, and his constant companion his beloved dog Sadie. Due to current circumstances a memorial service will be held at a later date.

“ As a long time member of the Wake Forest Baptist community, I have wonderful memories of Charles while I was a med student and well as a faculty member. As a student, I saw him often and he was always kind and helpful. We all thought he was a great guy! Once he became a member of the OR, I saw him less often; however, when we did see each other in the hallway, it was always a matter of catching up with Charles who took a genuine interest in others. He will be missed. Sympathy is extended to his family, and particularly to Terral whom I also have had the privilege of getting to know.
